(by Simon Kelley) (by Simon Kelley) New version available at Yosemite and El Capitan require this patch. El Capitan only includes the 'vmware-vmx.plist' patch which supports El Capitan. This is slightly out of date as there were other changes in Yosemite.  WARNING  This is a large and complex.plist patch, it may fail in some cases if a system already has the patch applied. APFS Support. [EFI Extensible Firmware Interface] The firmware that runs the VM is now EFI. Windows 7. BSD and Apple style init systems. The new kvm.plist relies on the host OS for hostname searching. If kvm.plist will find the hostname using a method (such as via DHCP, domain name, etc) that is not available to the guest OS, then the guest OS may not boot. This can happen if the host OS is below Windows 7 and the hostname is assigned by a domain name group, which is not available to the guest OS. VPC Management. VM Mobility. Quickly boot from a disk image from a remote system. VMW 570a42141b
