And the Mac version of Photoshop is referred to as Photoshop CS. # Working with Photos As mentioned, one of Photoshop's most popular uses is for making images. It also is an image-editing program in the same vein as Lightroom, that is, for taking raw photographs and transforming them into other images. In some cases, the images that you take with a camera (or download from the Internet) are intended to be ready-made for print, web, and other media, and the raw image is already a good start for creating that kind of media. In that case, you are well advised to spend the extra time and money to use a professional-quality program like Photoshop to fine-tune the images for maximum quality. In other cases, you may want to spend the time and money to convert your original raw images into something else, say, into a format that will make them look good in your web browser. To achieve that goal, you need to use a photo-editing program. And in both cases, having a good understanding of how to use and apply tools is essential. ## Applying Basic Photoshop Tools Photoshop tools provide a practical way to apply editing techniques to your images. Basic tools enable you to take existing raw images and make them better in a number of ways. Q: TypeError: " is not iterable I have a list of objects called infos and I want to do a search using infos.name = input: import sqlite3 from bs4 import BeautifulSoup # Connect to DB con = sqlite3.connect("assets/opendb.db") # Connect to Database cursor = con.cursor() # Select only the "name" field and concatenate to list infos = list() for a in cursor: info = a.strip() infos.append(info) # Search query if input: # Create a variable number of empty strings based on the length of "name" field emptyStrings = [] n = len(input) for i in range(0, n): emptyStrings.append("") # Generate a list of items to match from search string items = [] for i in range(0, n): items.append(infos[i].name) # Only match the first item in the list m = items[0] for i in range(0, n): infos[i].name = m if infos[i].name in input: return i, m I get this error: TypeError: " is not iterable Does anyone know why I keep getting that error? A: The infos variable is not a list. It's an instance of the list class. A list is not an iterator. You can only iterate on an object if it is an iterator. That is, you must have an `__iter__` method defined for the object, and you must call `next()` on it in order to get a result. You have to write your own iterator. As a hint, note that `infos[0].name = m` will not do what you think it does. This

The role of type-2 iodothyronine deiodinase (D2) in thyroid hormone (T3) action. Activation of type 2 iodothyronine deiodinase (D2), which converts L-T3 to 3,3',5-triiodothyronine (rT3), catalyzed by the type II deiodinase, serves as a negative feedback loop that regulates thyroid hormone levels and thyroid hormone action. Constitutive and inducible expression of D2 has been described in several tissues and in vitro systems. In vitro studies have demonstrated that D2 activity is increased during treatment with T3 and during development. A similar enhancement of D2 activity in hyperthyroid animals has also been documented in vivo. In studies designed to examine the possible relationship of T3 levels with D2 activity, alterations in blood T3 levels have been directly correlated with alterations in D2 activity in animals. Further, analysis of T3 metabolism in thyroid cells in vitro has demonstrated that the inhibitory effects of T3 on cellular proliferation are associated with inhibition of D2 activity. These observations and the phenotypic analyses of D2-null mice suggest a critical role for D2 activity in feedback regulation of T3 action in development, in aging and in response to alterations in thyroidal function.Q: Teradata sql get sum for first time and last time I want to get sum for the first time and sum for last time for example : col1 value | col2 value 1 2 2 3 2 3 I have a table that contains 100.000 rows and I need to get result like that : col1 | col2 1 4 2 6 I tried that one select col1,col2, (select sum(col2) from (select col2 from table) where col1 = 1) as col1_first from table; A: Use row_number():
