What's new:

Solitaire Call of Honor was a video game that was published by Interplay Productions and released in 1996 for PC, Nintendo's 64, Sony's PlayStation, Sega's Saturn, and the Sony PlayStation. It was a reconstruction of the 1937 game, By the Sword Divided. Story The story begins in the year 1936 in a small village of Tiffeypoodeen in Canada. A man named Upan Klael is scouting for a wife to marry the Unsullied Hynry's son, King Lorcan. Aunt Teh told him the place where the Unsullied was hunting dragons. He comes upon an old woman named Ronna, who seems to be but a simple farmer who appears on the verge of starvation. However, she seems to use an obscure skill, being able to breath acid in the form of live sparrows. She lures him to her house where she holds him at bay. She recites the story of how she was given her second sight, the dragon logic skill. She had been in a square in the Temple when an Avatar named Methuselah came to her in a dream and gave her a wand that had been used to kill him and his brothers. After she woke, a dragon came to her, claiming she was of it's choosing for her service. She was then taken to a form of twisted Aurochs to be trained in the skills of dragon logic. Her first test was for dragons to kill her fellow creatures, so that she could then go home and fix what she'd done. She was to it from then in. During her training, she killed a Greywether who was living in the Temple alongside her and was told for that, she must leave and return to that her home. She is then given a message of unity for Hynry, a reaver in Aundaun. Arj says that it is the only hope for him to save his family, a feat only druid can do. He says that he can trust her, as she is a druid, for he will gladly send his son in her care if she is trusted. After being employed as the druid in the village of Tiffeypoodeen, she has to travel to the Kingdom of Aundaun to slay the dragons for the final battle. But as she is getting ready to leave, a dragon comes in and takes her to the mountains of Zhulthen. She is told to find the right tree where Vulgord's Tower is a card-based adventure game of attack, defense, and random events. It is a game with fantasy, whimsy, and magic. The four worlds have unique environments and a variety of enemies and monsters. You can defeat your enemies by attacking them, dodging their attacks, or by looting their corpses. You can gain experience from fighting and gaining levels (up to the 10th) and gold from defeating enemies. You can amass an army by buying and upgrading warriors from the bazaar, and you can train your warriors to level up with experience. You can find the keys located in each of the four worlds to unlock the next realm. You can retrieve keys from defeated enemies, and they can also be found in the bazaar. You can use the treasure of these keys to buy and upgrade spells from the wizard tower. All of this data is stored in a deck of cards. The main goal of the game is to defeat Vulgord and escape with your life!

Controls/Keyboard Instructions: The right mouse button is used to attack enemies. The Spacebar initiates the right mouse button. Press Q to queue up the next card in your deck.
