table is not one of your global variables, so you have to declare it within a function. That being said, the table was never initialized with any contents, so it would probably be better to create the table dynamically. The present invention relates to an improved hollow needle. More specifically, the present invention relates to an improved hollow needle which is particularly suited for medical purposes. Hollow needles which have a needle portion and a hub portion which is rigidly connected to the needle portion are well known in the art. These conventional hollow needles are generally designed for use in hypodermic injections by medical personnel. However, these conventional hollow needles are not suitable for other medical purposes, such as irrigations and other surgical applications. Many of the prior art hollow needles include an inner needle which is permanently mounted within the hub portion and extends from the needle portion. In use, the inner needle is exposed in the needle portion and available to pierce body tissue. However, this type of hollow needle is usually unsuitable for certain medical applications. For example, after penetrating body tissue with the inner needle, the inner needle must be removed from the hub portion and withdrawn from the body. This type of hollow needle does not provide an immediate and convenient access to the outer surface of the tissue. Therefore, the inner needle is not suitable for certain medical applications, such as surgical applications and irrigations which are normally required during certain
