It was entered into the 31st Berlin International Film Festival, where it won a Special Mention and a Carlo Ponti Award for best Italian Film. Plot A group of wealthy Milanese industrialists, including the young, ambitious Riccardo and his friends Bruno and Claudio are facing a life crisis. Their social status is being undermined by social pressure and by the demands of their wives, who know that the younger generation will eventually inherit the family businesses. The stakes are raised when Riccardo is tempted by an arranged marriage to an old family friend, Margherita, who stands for convention, conservatism and a traditional marriage. Riccardo, who believes that he can express his independence and freedom by not living in his parents' house any longer, is faced with challenges when he is forced to move back home. Riccardo wishes to remain free, but is caught between his parents' expectations and his own ideals. Cast Cristina Marsillach as Margherita Aldo Maccione as Bruno Alessandro Habay as Riccardo Alessandra Sublet as Claudio Pietro Torrisi as Asdrubale Riccardo Garrone as Gloriani References External links Category:1979 films Category:Italian films Category:Films directed by Jean Becker Category:Films produced by Luciano Martino Category:Italian-language films Category:Films scored by Ennio MorriconeThe role of biofilms in prosthetic joint infection. In the past decade, a large body of evidence has emerged on the role of biofilms in prosthetic joint infection (PJI). Both the use of antimicrobials and the development of new and improved biomaterials have contributed to the increase of PJI. Biofilms are complex structures formed
