AT5 AT5.org is an online community network for homes, schools, community centers, and worship spaces. We are the informational portal for AT5.org hosts, independent volunteers who organize events and activities within their own homes and spaces. AT5.org hosts are anyone living in a space as small or as large as your own home. We are for people of all ages, shapes, sizes, and abilities. We are for people who may be interested in creating a more welcoming atmosphere in their home or space; those who already do so; and those who do nothing yet would like to be more welcoming in their own homes and spaces. We are for people who want to share information, resources, and opportunities. Our Mission AT5.org will be the information portal for homes, schools, community centers, and worship spaces. We will provide a community that will provide the necessary information, resources, tools and information to create a welcoming environment for everyone, regardless of age, gender, ability, religion, or ethnicity. Our Vision AT5.org will be an online community network that will provide information for the home, school, community center, and worship spaces. We will be the informational portal for AT5.org hosts, individuals who organize events
