You should try re-installing the OS A: Finally I got an error like "..: Exception: open..: dictionary file..: not found" It is very similar to the issue reported here Your solution is to run the installer from command line with --admin-pwd parameter. In my case the installer needed to be run from my C:\Documents and Settings\Administrator. Thanks a lot for your help. 1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to structures, such as heat exchangers, for separating fluid contaminants from gas streams and, more particularly, to such devices and structures which employ a membrane in fluid communication with the interior of the device for the passage of contaminants therethrough. 2. Description of the Prior Art In many systems, such as air separation plants, in which fluids containing contaminants, such as hydrocarbons, hydrogen sulfide, carbon monoxide, and the like, have to be separated from gas stream products or other fluids, there is a need to purify the fluid which is to be reused or recycled. Accordingly, it is desirable to separate such contaminants from the fluid, generally air, streams so that the reclaimed product can be mixed with the intake air or other fluids before they are processed and the contaminants can be dissipated, e.g., when the reclaimed product is to be burned to heat buildings or the like. In instances where it is desired to recycle the recovered product back to a gas stream in a fuel producing process or where the recovered product is to be mixed with combustion air for power generation, it is desired to remove the contaminants so that the reclaimed product will be inert or have minimal contamination. It has become an increasingly common practice to utilize a membrane-type device for the separation of contaminants from contaminated fluids which uses the differential pressure on opposite sides of a membrane as the driving force for the contaminants separation. Accordingly, in such devices, contaminated fluid is introduced at a first pressure on one side of the membrane and a clean fluid is introduced at a second pressure on the other side. The clean fluid can, for example, be a recycled product while the contaminated fluid is a gas stream product. When the flow rate of the contaminated fluid through the device exceeds the permeability of the membrane, concentration of the contaminated fluid occurs, thereby creating a pressure differential across the membrane. Once this occurs, the clean fluid will preferentially flow through the membrane, thereby permitting the contaminants to be discharged on the side of the
