What's New in the TreeSharp?

TreeSharp will help you to produce a multitude of different presentations. It combines a tree control with data grids. The data can be fetched from ODBC or OLEDB. The trees show all the data in one way or another but the power of TreeSharp lies in the fact that it can also show a clear visual difference between the items in the tree with the help of different colors. Furthermore, this program works with both horizontal and vertical formats. This will also allow you to export the charts of the data that you've managed to analyze to the latest version of PowerPoint, Excel or Word. You can also export the results to PDF and print them. The charts of the data you've managed to analyze are completely free. This means that when you use the Treesharp Charts key functionality to create charts, it won't cost you anything. This will be the only program that comes with charts. You can also edit the charts that come with the program, adding new elements to them. This will give you a clear overview of the data that you've managed to analyze. With this program, you will be able to obtain results more accurate than before. You will be able to get the best out of the trees control. It will also help you to get the best out of the program. It will save you the time you'd need to gather the data by yourself.
