Prose Proseword and COGNATE Drought, water stress and health in Africa. A rapid increase in the global demand for food, driven by a growing population and increases in income and affluence has resulted in increased water stress, most notably in Africa. By developing alternative or additional water sources, and reducing water consumption, this may help to avoid a water crisis in the future. With a focus on water stress, the aim of this article is to highlight the potential dangers associated with water resources for human health in Africa. This includes assessing the use of water resources in agriculture, water and sanitation for human health and social aspects of water, such as irrigation, drinking water, and water supply schemes. Water resources are potentially damaging to human health when a limited or increasing supply is delivered to the population of an area. During periods of water scarcity there is a real possibility of water being contaminated with pathogens and of drinking water being contaminated by human faecal pathogens, causing outbreaks of waterborne diseases and diarrhoeal diseases such as cholera and dysentery. The potential for environmental contamination (e.g. animal disease, toxic pollution, and contamination of soil and water resources) in relation to water and sanitation, is also highlighted. They've got a decent chance of getting that win, but I'm not sure how much help they can expect from their offense. Maybe it won't be too much more than last week against Seattle. I'm not at all convinced that the Dallas Cowboys are ready to meet the rush of a 4th offense. I'm the opposite. I've never liked the Texans. And now they've proved they can win their division. I just want to see them do it against a game plan that's no joke. And I just don't see how they can do it against the Bears. I'm ready to see the Seahawks go back to the Super Bowl and not the Texas Tech. I think they'll be playing there for a while, and for them to be able to get back in the top half of the AFC, they need to be playing a
