Wednesday, July 16, 2013 Homemade Mac and Cheese You might say I am obsessed with cheese! I could not live without it! This Homemade Mac and Cheese is my favorite. When I was getting through boxes in my basement this week looking for old recipes for a cookbook, I came across my first copy of American Gourmet magazine (some 45+ years old). While flipping through it I spotted a recipe for Homemade Mac and Cheese. I had never had homemade mac and cheese before this recipe and I was completely sold. So, I made it this week and I love it. It's creamy, cheesy, delicious and I've never found a better recipe. Check it out here. In a medium bowl, combine breadcrumbs, Cheddar, and Mozzarella cheeses, and Parmesan. Make sure to coat the inside as well as the outside. Set aside. Meanwhile, make the sauce by combining the mayo, mustard, and chili powder in a food processor. Process until smooth. While processing, add the milk a tablespoon at a time until the sauce reaches the desired consistency. Assemble the mac and cheese by combining all ingredients, except the milk, into a large mixing bowl. Stir in the milk until the cheese is melted and the mixture is smooth. If the sauce is too thick, add more milk. The mac and cheese can now be baked according to directions on the package, or you can grill it for a few minutes on each side. With this Homemade Mac and Cheese recipe, I'm sure you will want to make it again and again! Q VS 2013 error prompt after building VCS assembly
