big fish audio suite grooves 2 27 is the follow-up to the original suite grooves 2 album released in 1980 and features the same tracks in a set of three. this was a killer album at the time, and has since gone on to become an iconic document of the jazz rock fusion scene. the album is also of special importance for tony williams, who is the only drummer featured on every track (except the last, where's where's where?, which features steve gadd on drums). new guests on this album include george napier, tones deff, daniel de los santos, and adrian belew. the album's title track, "suite groove", was recorded by a different line-up featuring tony williams, steve gadd, and steve lukather, which would later record the song for the album journey to the center of the earth. "suite groove" was originally conceived as a film song, but became the song that would eventually turn journey to the center of the earth into a movie. the liner notes also feature reviews of this album by bill milkowski, who also wrote the liner notes for the original suite grooves album. he was also a musician in the jazz rock fusion scene during the early to mid 1980s. the liner notes also feature an interview with tony williams, zev feldman, and kevin gray. this is the true and authorized big fish audio release of the complete 1982 npr jazz alive! recorded at avery fisher hall in new york city on june 27, 1982, as part of george weins kool jazz festival. the show contains an additional 40 minutes not aired on the jazz alive! broadcast, making this the complete and official release of the entire concert.

Big Fish Audio Suite Grooves 2 27

a portion of the concert was broadcast on the npr program jazz alive! in 1982 and has been available on unofficial bootlegs, but this is the first official release authorized by the jaco pastorius estate and contains an additional 40 minutes which never aired. culled from the original 24-track tape reels, this is the complete concert from start-to-finish with the sound meticulously restored and mastered by the original grammy-winning recording engineer from the broadcast, paul blakemore. recording has been mastered by the legendary kevin gray at coherent audio. fans of jaco pastorius can now hear the music as it was recorded on the very day of the concert and the original recordings from the taping session have been restored by a grammy-winning engineer who has restored many albums in his career. this is a must-have for any fan of jaco pastorius and the music of his time. in addition to the 4 1/4 lp set, a limited edition 3xlp set on 180g vinyl includes a massive insert with extensive liner notes; rare photos by tom copi, don hunstein, rene perez, and donna ranieri; essays by acclaimed jazz writer bill milkowski and producer zev feldman, recording engineer paul blakemore; interviews with drummer peter erskine, saxophonist bob mintzer, trumpeter randy brecker, bassist victor wooten, and metallica bassist robert trujillo who produced the award-winning 2014 documentary jaco. recording has been mastered by the legendary kevin gray at coherent audio. jaco served as the primary organist and a synthesizer performer for weather report, and from the mid-1980s until his death in september of 1999, he was the "face" of weather report on record, as well as in live appearances. in 1995, the jaco pastorius ensemble released master of the grooves, consisting of jacos classic compositions re-recorded by an extraordinary lineup of musicians including jacos drummer omar hakim, weather report bassist marcus miller, and keyboardist jeff hamilton.
