Hare requires a mere 2 KB of space, along with a new Group Policy; Hare controls how your PC uses its processing power, giving it the best performance without you having to spend a penny. Hare - constant speed, without any delays. Hare doesn't use a constant 100% CPU for a long period of time.

During idle times, Hare will lower your system to 50-70% CPU utilization. When you load a program, Hare automatically switches to 100% CPU, and only for the requested duration. When you don't use a program, Hare lowers your CPU utilization to 10-20% and the system does nothing else, while your program finishes. This way, you don't slow down or freeze your computer, as it happens with other programs, but instead you get a constant, optimized performance. easy for you to work with patients' clinical histories, draw conclusions, and discover accurate and relevant information.
