He is confident that Pakistan is headed towards a much better future. One way to that goal is to remain vigilant and not let terrorists infiltrate the country. Sir Bani was in Islamabad to inaugurate the new head office of the F-16 Project, which is being funded by India. Pakistan is not purchasing any more F-16s from the United States. If God’s will is to be on the side of Pakistan, Pakistan is going to acquire more fighters, and not less, so that this war is won. Pakistan is a country that needs to be protected against all hazards — militarily, financially and politically. If God’s will is to be on the side of Pakistan, Pakistan is going to acquire more fighters, and not less, so that this war is won. In another editorial, Sir Bani notes that India and Pakistan should not stop being neighbors or friends. There are so many challenges in the world — a common home with India would save both countries’ expenses. It is a matter of regret that the discussion on the issue of Kashmir has not been taken forward and achieved anything, and there has been no progress made. It is important that if it is the Islamic world that wants this issue to be settled, that it is the Islamic world that should do it.
